Summary

An aspiring web designer with a passion for the arts. Beginning in music education I was able to hone my most prominent skills: a passion to achieve, creatively capturing the attention of the community, working both individually and as a group, organizing and achieving goals for the short and long term. Persisting through challenges with optimism lead me to accomplish learning HTML, CSS, and JavaScript through Northwestern's Coding Bootcamp. Using what I learned from the boot camp I am ambitious to create a career in web design.
